

EAGLES EDITION

Principal's Message

Robin Yeargain

Dear EDUPRIZE Parents,

It was wonderful to see so many parents on campus for conferences...thank you for taking the time to establish this partnership. At conferences, you receive a lot of information, including baseline data and a picture of how your child is doing right now, as well as some of the expectations for growth. This can be overwhelming and may even seem like there is too much to do. We know that families are busy and that life is very full. We also know that how children do in the elementary years is a great predictor of future years. So now what? The most important thing you can do to help your child is set a time each day to:

- ASK about the day--what was a struggle or an accomplishment
- Complete homework...there is always math, math facts, and spelling
- READ...20 minutes a day will help with fluency and comprehension, PLUS earn Water Day in May!

This interest in your child's work shows value and purpose for learning.

If setting a routine of completing school work hasn't been something you've done in the past, go for the gold (our theme this year) and start by following the few suggestions listed above!

Some items I've noticed lately that I would like to address are:

- Drive Lanes are used for ALL students to be dropped off and picked up. Students should never be dropped off in the parking lot or expected to walk across the parking lot. You may drop off in any lane, but you need to use your assigned lane for pick-up. Please take the extra few minutes to drop off/pick up the correct way. Model integrity, which is doing the right thing, even when no one is looking.
- Drive lanes are 10-15 MPH, please watch your speed.
- Respect for the aides...these wonderful staff members are there for the safety of our children. If you are asked to move up or come back around because you are too early, please show respect and follow their directions. Their intentions are kind and are aimed at efficiency.

Thanks again for your continued support and commitment to your child and education.

With Labor Day on Monday, it reminds us that we (including your children) have worked hard, and we celebrate our achievements from the past and look forward with excitement to what we can do in the coming year.

I wish you a wonderful, fun, and relaxing 3-day weekend!

Kindly,
Robin

SEL CORNER

(SOCIAL AND EMOTIONAL LEARNING)

Dear EDUPRIZE families,

This week's tip comes from Sue Everheart, our Logic specialist and Reading Interventionist - it is about the importance of "crossing the mid-line." According to Sensational Kids, "The body's mid-line is an imaginary line down the center of the body that divides the body into left and right. Crossing the body's mid-line is the ability to reach across the middle of the body with the arms and legs. This allows children to cross over their body to perform a task on the opposite side of their body."

Heather Vehon
Dean of Students K-6th

"Crossing the body's mid-line is an important developmental skill needed for many everyday tasks such as writing, reaching towards your foot to put your shoes and socks on with both hands and being able to complete puzzles when the puzzle is placed on the other side of the body." Some activities your child can do to practice crossing the mid-line include:

- Jumping and skipping
- Riding a bike
- Catching a ball
- Beating a drum
- Doing buttons
- Tying Laces
- Threading Beads
- Cutting with a Scissors
